The Music Department is at the very heart of the School and is the centre of all students' musical activities and non-academic studies. The Department has a lively, busy atmosphere, and aims to deliver the best possible musical opportunities for all its students.

Working as a part of a team of dedicated music administrators, the Music Timetable and Administration Officers (MTAO) are two of the central organising roles of the Music Department. Both roles have two core remits: they are the primary scheduling roles for their respective departments' (plus contact points for all Instrumental Music Tutors'/students' timetable enquiries); they also offer administrative support to their nominated Heads of Department (Head of Vocal and Choral Studies; Head of Keyboard and Woodwind departments. (NB: The Brass & Percussion Department and majority of room scheduling is covered by the Music Department Assistant role). Key Duties (Timetabling/Scheduling): Term Time

The MTAO's main responsibilities are to timetable all instrumental lessons within the Music Department on a weekly basis. Presently this amounts to approximately c.50 tutor timetables (scheduled weekly) per role. One role takes the lead on scheduling String, Vocal and Composition departments' lessons – the other role leads on the Keyboard and Woodwind departments. (NB: The Brass & Percussion Department and majority of room scheduling is covered by the Music Department Assistant role). All timetabling is currently delivered through the use of 'StREAM', the School's own bespoke timetabling software.

Other key duties include:

- Scheduling of Accompanists' times for lessons, as requested by the Tutors or Heads of Department.
- Resolving all lesson clashes promptly and reacting to any changes of Tutor schedule as required.

- Ensure all students receive their required allocation of tuition in a student-centred manner (i.e. timetabled at appropriate times according to age and stage and scheduled around any notified key academic lessons/ external activity).
- Support the weekly rota of instrumental tutors' room bookings and disseminate information as required.
- Act as a central communication channel for department specific instrumental tutors, ensuring all teaching staff within the department are aware of forthcoming School activities which may impact on schedules, and deal with any queries and requests that may arise.
- General timetable/schedule administration, including: collating tutor availability; ensuring all timetable related material and StREAM database allocations are accurate and up-to-date at all times; maintaining accurate and detailed records are kept of teaching activities.
- Follow up any unexpected student or tutor absences.
- Support the work of the Music Department Assistant with regards to notifying contractual changes, allocation changes and any extra tuition charges.
- Log and communicate tutor sickness to relevant members of staff.
- Any other duties as directed by the Music Department Manager within reasonable scope of the role.

Key Duties (Heads of Department Support): Term Time

Alongside timetabling/scheduling responsibilities, the MTAOs are required to support their nominated Head of Departments with a broad base of administrative duties during term time weeks. These will include (but are not limited to):

- Student/Parent correspondence as required.
- Logistical planning and scheduling of department specific masterclasses/performance classes from visiting musicians.
- Administrative support for any larger-scale departmental activities (performance days, Music Course activities, competitions etc).
- Scheduling and logistics for any specific departmental classes during Wednesday 'Music Blocks' as required.
- Some external staffing at performances/department activities if required and reasonably undertaken within the hours of the role.
- General administrative support.
- Any other duties reasonably requested within the scope of the role.

Additional Duties (timetabling): Non-Term Time

During the Summer Holiday period, alongside preparatory timetabling for the term ahead, the MTAOs take the lead in preparing the student allocations and tutor contractual hours notices.

The musical allocations for the entire student body are reviewed and updated annually. The collation of this information forms the backbone of the Department's administrative and contractual systems for the following year. The MTAOs create a comprehensive and accurate database containing all allocation information and ensure that this information is updated and reflected in all associated systems.

Personal Specification: Music Timetable and Administration Officer(s)

The roles of the Music Timetable and Administration Officers are genuinely unique. Working in the largest of all of the specialist Music Schools in the country, they are also demanding and challenging roles. There may only be 320 students in the school, but each of those students may have two or three instruments, which they receive tuition on every week from over 100 different instrumental tutors, who in turn come on different days each week – fitting in their teaching around their own complicated and busy work schedules... This is not even to mention the chamber and group classes that students and tutors also take on a weekly basis. And all of this takes place around a normal school day for children aged 8-18!

It's your job to get them all the right students in all the right places, with the right teachers and at the right time. Whilst you're constructing this weekly Rubik's Cube, you are also supporting your designated Head of Department with a variety of administrative support. This role is definitely about 'spinning plates'.

But, with your sense of humour and down-to-earth nature you will meet the challenges head-on. You will need to be outstandingly organised, logical, quick thinking and entirely approachable. Your weekly workload may look like a week-long crossword or Sudoku puzzle, but by the end of it, you will have the satisfaction of having contributed directly to building the musical lives of the future. You will also be in excellent company – we are a small but ever-friendly team working to support what feels like one big family.
