Although there is no academic test to enter Chetham's, students are well-motivated and classes rarely exceed 20 students. We have a significant proportion of SEND and EAL students and the ability to teach to a wide ability range and the willingness to offer one-to-one support is key to facilitating student progress across the ability profile.

Within the New School building there are three Humanities classrooms on the main academic floor. In addition, there are two I.T. rooms, each of which have a number of workstations. All classrooms have interactive Promethean screens. The Department is also well resourced with textbooks and fieldwork equipment.
